FAQ's

Is it legal? Yes, as long you pay for whatever goods and services you acquire with your new file! These are the same confidential techniques used by credit experts and attorneys. However, this program is not intended to defraud or scam current and future creditors. Even though you will have a new credit file, you are still responsible for the debts on your old file. This technique is called "File Segregation" and obviously is definitely frowned upon by Banks, Credit Bureaus, etc..

What can I use the new credit file for? Use it to get major credit cards, department store cards, gas cards, auto loans, bank loans, mortgages, and any type of financing you desire. There is no difference between how you used your old credit file and the new one, except that your new file will be clean and will contain from the very beginning a real, substantial and approved high credit line!

What happens to my old file? Your old file and the responsibility to pay off any debts under it still exists; creating a new file is not intended to escape past debt. It is simply a means of getting a second chance. You'll know and learn how to avoid getting the new file mixed and/or "merged" with the old one.

Is the new file temporary? No! The new file is permanent! This is why it is so important to take care of your new credit file. There are no third chances!

How does it work?

The credit bureaus admit they have close to 400 million files on record. Yet there are just over 150 million economically active people in the US! Where did the extra files come from? There is a loophole in the credit reporting systems. We have learned how new files could be created. Note: It is illegal and a felony to scam and/or defraud creditors by falsifying a credit application. Getting a New A+ Credit File is a complicated process. Trying it on your own, if not done correctly, will just get you denied; it will place another negative inquiry on your report and could also get you in legal trouble!

Can I really have a new A+ credit file?

Yes! As long as you have not changed your Social Security Number before or have already previously opened a second credit file, YOU can get a second chance!

How much does it cost?

Only $4,000! You can order by paying the full amount for Rush Processing (Two weeks time), or $5,000 by paying 50% with your order and 50% at 30 Days when your file is delivered. You will receive a copy of your new credit file proving that you now have excellent credit! This will take less than 30 days. You will then be able to easily qualify for ANY credit you apply for!

REQUIRED INFORMATION

In order to process and create your New A+ Credit File and avoid having it merged with the original you must provide an address, which you have never used before. Also, it's recommended that you take advantage of this opportunity to create a new personal employment and income profile to better suit your purposes and objectives; Keep in mind that credit is power and that it's always granted according mainly to your stated "Available Disposable Income", so... For example, just as you can have your file stating that you're employed at Burger King, making $7.00 an hour, you can have it instead stating that you're self-employed with an annual income of $80,000. For employment or business info use something general such as "Your Name & Associates" or "Your Name Enterprises" just make sure that, as with your address, it's not your present or any previous employment information already on record.
